A first-generation lawyer, Camila brings a unique perspective and deep commitment to advocacy shaped by her diverse academic and professional background. Camila began her educational journey by earning an Associate's Degree in Criminal Justice. She then completed a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science with a Minor in International Relations. Later, Camila went on to receive her J.D. from St. Thomas University College of Law where she also completed a Property Law Certification, which provided an extensive background in real property issues, and has aided in her ability to solve complex related property legal matters.

During her time in law school, Camila was actively involved in student leadership, as she served as fundraising chair for the Cuban American Student Bar Association and participated in the Florida Association for Women Lawyers.

Camila began her legal career working in first party property litigation as well as personal injury. Being fluent in both English and Spanish, she is dedicated to serving the firm's clients.
