Dylan T. Annis was born and raised in Dacula, Georgia. After receiving his B.A. in Marketing from Kennesaw State University, Dylan earned his J.D. from Atlanta's John Marshall Law School graduating cum laude and among the top of his class. While in law school, Dylan clerked at an accomplished litigation firm where he earned significant experience litigating personal injury cases. Following passage of the Georgia Bar Exam, Dylan began his practice representing individuals at a small litigation firm located out of Atlanta, Georgia. Dylan made the switch to the defense side where he uses his prior experience to represent Defendants in general liability, premises liability, automobile liability, commercial vehicle liability, insurance coverage, amusement park accidents, and other liability matters.

Dylan's passion to help others during uncertain and confusing situations was the drive behind Dylan's decision to attend law school and enter practice. Dylan believes in approaching each case as a partnership with his clients, not just an opportunity to handle their case, but to help them understand and navigate the process to achieve the best legal outcome.

Dylan currently resides in metro-Atlanta where he enjoys playing golf, attending Braves games, and playing with his two dogs.
