Mac earned a Bachelor's Degree in English from Florida International University. He later decided to pursue law school in order to aid his community and provide the best possible life for his family that he could, believing that dedication and sacrifice are pillars on which the strongest bonds are built. Mac went on to achieve a Juris Doctorate from the Florida International University College of Law where he made Dean's list. During Law school he aided FIU's family law clinic and assisted an independent attorney with a pro bono Veteran's Appeals case.

Since joining Vernis & Bowling, Mac focuses primarily on first party property law. When not practicing, he enjoys traveling with his wife and two children and being a part of the Florida Keys community.
